Charlie Hall and Duffy Lewis, who yesterday were "out of the game for the season," have signed their contracts with the world's champions. Pitchers Collins and O'Brien are the only men unsigned. Collins will come in before the team leaves Friday for Hot Springs.

High, an outfielder from the Connecticut League, is the best man Hughie Jennings has uncovered. The recruit is expected to fill Davy Jones' place in the Tiger outfield.

Vean Gregg, the star left-hander, is in the best shape of any of the Cleveland twirlers. In spite of the orders of Manager Birmingham, Gregg has cut loose a few twisters.

Milburn Saylor of Indianapolis is an unpopular pug in Windsor, Ont., where he fought a draw last night with Tommy Devlin of Philadelphia. Saylor got away with everything except an actual foul, and the fans went after him for keeps. Devlin landed at will, but his punches lacked sting.

Racing generally in New York will not reopen until the Court of Appeals has acted on the question of oral betting. This was decided yesterday at the Jockey Club meeting. Saratoga will be the only track to operate. The resort has suffered loss of patronage since the sport was eliminated, and business men are behind a movement to offer reasonable purses to attract horsemen.

Police Sergt. Michael Drissell of St. Louis, catcher for the St. Louis Browns when the team won four pennants in the American League, died yesterday. He retired from the game in 1895.
